MR. EGAN: Patrick Egan and Rebekah Donaleski for the Good afternoon, your Honor.

THE COURT: Good afternoon.

MR. KIRTON: Marlon Kirton for Mr. Hunter. Good afternoon, your Honor.

THE COURT: Good afternoon.

What was the date and time of the arrest?

MR. EGAN: The defendant arrived in the district last ght. I don't know the exact time the defendant was produced.

THE COURT: Thank you.

Mr. Hunter, the purpose of this proceeding is to advise you of your rights and then to determine what circumstances, if any, you may be released pending trial.

 $\mbox{\rm Mr. Kirton, I}$ assume you are not making a bail motion at this time.

MR. KIRTON: No, your Honor. My client is a sentenced prisoner, sentenced to 20 years since 2015.

THE COURT: Understood.

Mr. Hunter, you have a right to have counsel represent you at this and all proceedings relating to these charges. If you cannot afford counsel, one will be appointed for you at no

THE COURT: Do you waive its public reading? Or would you like me to read it out loud?

THE DEFENDANT: Waive.

So, Mr. Kirton, I just want to make sure that you are familiar with the schedule that we've set going forward. There is a firm trial date that has been set of April 2.

Our next status conference with the other two defendants is scheduled for next Thursday, November 2, at 10:30 a.m., and speedy trial time has already been excluded until the April 2 trial.

Are you aware of that?

MR. KIRTON: Yes, I am, your Honor.

THE COURT: You also may know that a number of motions in limine have already been filed by Mr. Hunter's codefendants. I intend to rule on those motions well in advance of trial. We can set a schedule.

What I'd like is for you to come back next Thursday and propose to me a motion schedule, if you intend to make any motions on behalf of Mr. Hunter.

Okay?

MR. KIRTON: That's fine.

THE COURT: Thank you.

Finally, I understand that the government has received approval not to seek the death penalty against Mr. Hunter. Is that correct?

MR. EGAN: That's correct, your Honor.

THE COURT: Are there any other applications at this

MR. EGAN: Your Honor, just an update by way of discovery. We've been talking with defense counsel. Discovery is available. We've just told him he needs to provide a hard drive. He's indicated he'll do that as soon as possible. Most of it is material he has received before, but we're just going to produce it all so that he has it in one place.

I know in our last motion we made a speedy trial motion. It's the government's understanding that when the superseder was filed, that the speedy trial clock starts from arraignment on the superseder. So ours was just in an abundance of caution to make clear that we were asking that time be excluded with respect to this superseder. So that was the purpose of our request.

THE COURT: That's understood. I am going to exclude speedy trial time until the April 2 trial date for the reasons that I have stated earlier but also to allow Mr. Hunter and his counsel to get up to speed on the case, to review the discovery, to determine if you'd like to make any motions, and to discuss any possible dispositions.

So, to the extent that speedy trial time has not already been excluded until April 2, it has now.

Are there any other applications?

MR. EGAN: Not from the government.

MR. KIRTON: Yes, your Honor. My client needs medical attention. He's currently on blood pressure medication, PTSD medication, and cholesterol medication. I'd ask that those medications continue. He's also receiving counseling for his PTSD.

THE COURT: All right. So, in the first instance, what I'd like you to do -- where is he housed?

MR. KIRTON: The MDC.

THE COURT: I'm going to ask you to work with the government to ensure that he gets that treatment and that care. If there are any issues whatsoever, you should come to me, and I'll assist you in any way that I can.

MR. KIRTON: That's fine, your Honor.

THE COURT: Do you need any of the motions in limine?

I think everything should be on the docket. So you should be able to get all of the motions.

I just want to make sure that Mr. Kirton has everything, including the proposed sort of Brutonized version of statements. It may be that they need to be Brutonized again with respect to Mr. Hunter, but I just want to make sure that you give him everything that he can't get on the docket.

All right?

MR. EGAN: Absolutely.

THE COURT: Anything else from either side?

MR. EGAN: Not from the government.

MR. KIRTON: No, your Honor. Thank you.
